Consultants skills

Our consultants are experienced in giving evidence in various forums (Arbitration, Mediation and High Court Litigation) and in many countries other than the UK. We are aware that our duties in these matters is to assist the Court or Panel to come to their decision in technical matters and not to provide advocacy for our clients.

Technical evidence is often complicated, but our expertise is to provide this impartially, and in a manner that can be understood by the layman, while not compromising the integrity of the evidence.
